but it is still reasonable to ask whether it’s really worthwhile to keep vaccinating the example of a warm day in November is not ironic because it is just unexpected, not contrary to the basic premise and nature of November (it’s not even that unlikely, c.f