that gives you more time to decide and also more time for the product to show its true efficacy that may be because men tend to have worse eating habits and higher cholesterol levels to begin with than women, so they might gain more from switching to a healthier diet